

Social Entrepreneurship Journalist

The Entrepreneurs' Ship is a non-profit project which aims at fostering entrepreneurship as a viable career option in areas where high levels of unemployment or difficult employment situations leave little room for individuals with high ambitions. Our initiative focuses on analyzing economic, political and socio-cultural conditions as well as conceptualizing and implementing sustainable public policy programs to foster entrepreneurship. We closely partner with governments, universities and highly influential individuals around the world to deliver customized and unique solutions that resolve the most significant issues of strategic importance.

The Job

In order to supplement our team, we are looking for a volunteer for the position of Social Entrepreneurship Journalist. The goal of this activity is to perform interviews (written, podcasts, videos and any other format which makes sense) with selected successful social entrepreneurs all around the world, with a focus on Africa, Asia and Latin America. We want to publish weekly interviews and you would have the full responsibility for this resport.

- The job can be conducted from anywhere in this world
- One interview published per week
- Getting in touch with outstanding individuals and thus building a unique network
- This is a volunteering position, thus you can perform it next to any other activity such as studies or a job which you have.
- You would set up your own structure for this series and conduct this project in a very self-directed manner.

Your Profile

We are looking for a passionate and self-driven individual who wants to join our exciting endeavor. We do not really care for any specific qualification or background. We primarily look for

- Outstanding motivation and a passion for entrepreneurship
- Ideally some journalistic and blogging experience
- Highly proficient or native in English (written and spoken)

Interested? Then get involved with a unique project and help us create an awareness of entrepreneurship in the developing and emerging world. Send us your CV and a short letter stating why you want to get involved with the project and your thoughts on how you would like to structure this interview series to info@entrepreneurship.org.
